Position: Intelligence Officer

Position Description:

- Performs and manages intelligence functions and activities to support the United States and allied forces. Conducts information operations to include analysis of information and vulnerability. Included are intelligence operations and applications activities; collecting, exploiting, producing, and disseminating foreign military threat information; geospatial information and services (GI&S); developing intelligence policies and plans; and human, signals, imagery, and measurement and signature types of intelligence. Plans and coordinates use of intelligence resources, programming and budgeting. Supports force employment planning, execution, and combat assessment. Advises commanders, aircrew, and other users of intelligence information essential to military planning and aerospace operations. Directs operations and applications activities and organizations, and establishes goals and objectives. Reviews requirements for objectives and relative priorities. Presents and defense intelligence positions to a variety of audiences, including unit staff, MAJCOM representatives, and members of the DoD. Additionally, will be required to accomplish other duties and deployments as assigned.
- Directly supports military operations in mission areas such as low intensity conflict, homeland defense, force protection, counter terrorism, show-of-force, special operations and Aerospace Control Alert (ACA), combat operations, and/or intelligence collection missions.
- Develops, oversees and presents aircrew training to include threat of the days, pre-mission briefs, current intelligence briefs, debriefs and mission reports.
- Assures the intelligence function maintains a capability to provide timely and accurate operational intelligence support and fully trained intelligence personnel during peacetime and contingency operations.
- Researches, evaluates, integrates, and analyzes all-source data in the preparation of clear, concise, in-depth intelligence analytical products focusing on the threats to air operations, including the operational concepts of military forces and trends with potential military implications (e.g. research and development; production; delivery systems; doctrine; and capabilities) prepared in response to mission requirements.
- Performs other duties as assigned.
